About Me

I'm a professional UX/UI designer and novice in web development. During my professional career, as a designer, I have done many fascinating projects and met a lot of interesting people. Last year I took a lot of different, useful courses and I am still learning something new every day. At this moment, besides the professional activity, I take part in providing newcomers with training and support with learning basics of web-development (HTML, CSS, JS, NodeJS, ReactJS) as a Coder Crew staff.
